

VISIT BIG GUN CORPS

MRS. MULLEN AND FRIENDS
MOTOR TO SAN PEDRO AND VISIT SOLDIERS

Mrs. James Mullen of Harvard Street with a party of friends drove to San Pedro Thursday and located Richardson D. White and other Glendaleans though they had to pass Fort McArthur and continue to Point Fermin to find the Heavy Artillery Corps at Camp Fermin. They are to move today however to the top of the hill. They received a warm welcome and Mr. White said they were the only people from the old home town he had seen this week. They found the camp in charge of Lieut. Van Pelt of Central Avenue. The soldiers are leading strenuous lives with drilling for three hours a day, two-hour lectures morning and afternoon and classes in mathematics. Foot inspection was held today. Some of the men expect to get out pretty soon and be sent directly across to take their training over there. There are about 165 in the camp and the majority are college men.

Leaving that camp the party drove to the naval base but had no chance to see Glendale boys as all were out on tramps. The quarantine has made the men so restless that ball games are played and hiking trips organized to keep them entertained and in condition. The "flu" is being controlled there in fine shape. Rev. W. E. Edmonds has been advised that little Lila Mary Widney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Widney, formerly of this city, died this morning of cerebro spinal meningitis. He has been asked to assist in the funeral services which will be held in the open air Monday morning at ten o'clock in Fairhaven Memorial Park, Santa Ana.

FUNERAL OF JOE COLLINO

Funeral services, which will be private, will be held over the body of Joe Collino at the parlors of the Pullman Undertaking Company this (Saturday) afternoon at two o'clock.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Arnold are moving today (Saturday) from 309 North Maryland to 211 Lomita Ave.

ports. Mrs. Lebrecht, who was of the party, went down to visit her son Frank. They brought back to Glendale Mrs. Tipton, a former resident and mother of Ralph Tipton now in France. Ralph has made his lieutenant in the aviation service. Mrs. Tipton, who is the guest of Mrs. Mullen, was accompanied by her son Harold.

KAISER'S ABDICATION ANNOUNCED AS A FACT

PUBLICATION OF THE NEWS ONLY AWAITS A TIME
FAVORABLE FOR THE ANNOUNCEMENT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
PARIS, November 2.—A government dispatch at 4:30 this afternoon said that the Kaiser's abdication may be considered a fact and that the official publication of the news was merely being withheld pending a favorable opportunity.

GERMANS PREPARE TO PUNISH KAISER

TERMS THE ALLIES WILL OFFER GERMANY WILL BE STIFFER THAN THOSE TURKEY HAD TO ACCEPT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)
WASHINGTON, November 2.—A well-informed diplomat told the United Press that the terms the Allies are offering Germany "will be stiffer than those Turkey was forced to accept." Diplomatic dispatches state that the German people already are preparing to punish the Kaiser summarily, along with the military responsible for the crimes of the last four years.

The President was busy early today following yesterday's advice that the Versailles Conference expected the Kaiser to abdicate.

Following the government's receipt of the naval provisions of the armistice terms to be offered Germany, high officials declared the terms were sufficient to meet the requirements of any prudent man, and they will make travel safe on all seas. The provisions were not made public.

SCHOOL OPENING

SUPT. SHULTS MAKES STATE-MENT OF SITUATION AND PROSPECTS

James H. Shults, superintendent of schools, informs us that he had a personal conference with County Health Officer Pomeroy on Thursday and at that time the statement was made that it would be injudicious to open any of the schools on the coming Wednesday, the 6th inst., according to previous announcement; that that date was a sliding date; that if the situation permitted the opening of the schools, the schools would be open, but that if it did not the matter would be left open.

Also the statement was made that the Glendale Board of Health was a law unto itself, as it had the sole charge of the situation in this, an incorporated city.

A conference by the superintendent with Dr. Chase, health officer of Glendale, the first inst., revealed that the situation was of that character that it would not be safe to open the schools next week.

An appointment was made for next week Wednesday with the health officer and the matter will be gone over carefully again, and if safe the schools will open the following week. In that event announcement will be made through the Evening News and there will be a called meeting of all the principals and teachers of the Glendale schools at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of a designated date at which time Dr. Chase will be present and will address the teachers.

Patrons of all the schools, the principals and teachers will be carefully kept posted by the superintendent in regard to the situation, and the teachers by private letter as well.

THE "FLU" SITUATION

Building Inspector Chobe, who is assisting Health Officer Chase in various ways during the epidemic, reports that it appears to be about stationary and that it is the hope of physicians that a few days more will witness a marked decline in the number of new cases. A favorable feature of the situation is that nearly all cases are of a light form and that recoveries in most instances are comparatively rapid. There are now eight cases at the emergency hospital in Fire House No. 2 in the Tropico District.

MONTAVILLE FLOWERS IN HIS HOME TOWN

For a number of years I resided in Monrovia where my home is and through my newspaper and business activities there had an excellent opportunity to watch the development of the city materially, morally and intellectually and also to study the men who were promoting its growth.

Conspicuous among those men was Montaville Flowers who had made an attractive home for his family there, purchased ranch property and identified himself with the religious and social life of the town. Monrovia never regarded him as simply a Monrovia. He was bigger than that. He went and came bringing messages from the larger world of affairs with which he was connected through his lecture tours and his work as a campaign orator. Nevertheless he never lost interest in the home town nor was he ever too busy to boost for what he believed to be its best interests. The schools were special objects of his attention and the building of the beautiful high school which is so conspicuous a feature of the town was promoted largely through Mr. Flowers' enthusiasm. He persuaded the citizens at a mass meeting called to consider a bond issue that they could not afford an inferior high school building and that they would find it a valuable asset in attracting the best class of residents. That is the spirit of the man and his prophecy has been realized.

He also identified himself with the religious life of the community and has always been an active member of the First Methodist church of the city and recognized as upholding the standards of morality the church proclaims, including prohibition. He and the members of his family have shown intense patriotism and his son, Montaville Flowers, Jr., now in France, was one of the first to enlist in a local company of the Coast Artillery when the United States entered the war. Monrovia knows his unusual abilities and equipment for Congressional life and she knows too that if the district elects Montaville Flowers as its representative in Congress it will have a spokesman upon whom it can depend and one of whom it will never have reason to be ashamed.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the Presbyterian Church suggests Sabbath Meditation

In common with all loyal American citizens, this congregation willingly co-operates with the authorities in the closing of the churches until such time as our officials deem it wise and safe to permit public gatherings.

Of course the communion service which was announced for Nov. 3 is postponed to a date which will be announced later.

All members of the congregation are requested to send their regular weekly offering to some one of the church officials.

The pastor suggests a Sabbath meditation, based on Romans 14:7, "No man liveth to himself." Much is being said these days regarding the epidemic of influenza, which word comes from the root word influence. What a wonderful thing influence is!

There is no middle ground as regards influence. It is either good or bad, strong or weak. It either helps or hinders, lifts up or pushes down. It works when you wake, and forgets not to toil on while you are sleeping. Your influence makes it easier for others to live, or increases their struggle to be true.

Influence is exerted by what you think. The expression of your countenance, which is an interpretation of your thought, sends out a force for good or evil. Influence is exerted by what you say. This is solemn. For spoken words cannot be recalled. They hasten in to meet you at the judgment. Influence is exerted by what you do. For by your deeds you are making or marring others. Influence is exerted by what you really are. For thus you speak with an eloquence which words cannot hold.

Do not forget that by what you are today you set in motion forces which make men better or worse.

A few suggestions: Think truly. Speak kindly. Act nobly. Be sincere. The ideal is high. There is a way to reach it.

Walk daily in harmony with the will of Jesus Christ, "who came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many." Throughout life let Jesus be first in your thoughts, consult and glorify Him in all your ways.

Progress

From a very excellent and timely sermon prepared by Rev. W. J. Marsh, acting pastor of the First Congregational Church, the following extracts are taken:

Progress, the watchword in all departments of life.

Ephesians 4:13: "Till we all attain unto the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a full-grown man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ."

Progress is the watchword in respect to "civilization." The man of hope and wisdom finds inspiration for his optimism, not in the condition of things as they actually exist, but in the one fact of human progress.

Progress is the watchword in respect to religion. There is progress in the religious life of the individual.

There is such a thing as progress also from the standpoint of the Church as a whole. I speak now of the universal church, consisting of all true believers. We cannot expect that in all other departments of human activity there should be constant shifting and transformation and that in religion alone there should be no change of ideals, no progress in understanding the highest forms of truth. Each age has new conceptions of the same old truths.

There are many hindrances in the path of progress. Ignorance is one of these hindrances. When we flatter ourselves concerning the attainments and achievements of our present civilization, we are simply comparing ourselves with past generations. How about the future? All our knowledge is only relative. Our very ignorance at once creates a demand for and forms a hindrance to our rapid progress.

Prejudice, which is merely a form, or at least a fruit, of ignorance, forms another barrier. Religious prejudice opposed and retarded the advancement of the sciences of medicine and astronomy in the middle ages. Religious prejudice has been in the way of progress toward the unity of faith referred to in the text and toward the universal knowledge of the Son of God.

Lack of a definite goal has been an obstacle to general progress. In the progress of the civilization we

DEATH OF JOSEPH AGUILAR

Joseph Aguilar, a volunteer member of the City Fire Department of Glendale, died this (Saturday) morning, November 2d, at eleven o'clock at the Emergency Hospital in Fire Station No. 2, after a week's illness of influenza. He was an orphan about nineteen years of age and so far as known had but one relative, a sister, living in Mexico, with whom the authorities are endeavoring to communicate. He has been in the employ of the A. B. C. Generator Company of Los Angeles but has lodged in Fire Station No. 1 of this city and responded to any night fire calls. He was a great favorite with the other firemen because of his cheerfulness and willingness, and his readiness to do a favor to any one at any time. He was a "thorough gentleman" they say.

STREET CAR AND TRUCK COLLIDE

This morning about eight o'clock a large truck belonging to the Crystal Ice Company loaded with ice for La Crescenta, Sunland and other valley points while crossing the car track opposite the plant on Wilson Ave. was struck by an Eagle Rock car of the Glendale-Montrose line. It was shoved forward about fifteen feet and overturned making quite a wreck of its load of ice. At this writing no investigation has been made to determine where the blame for the accident should be placed. There was but one man on the truck and he suffered no serious injury. The ice company had to summon the railroad company's hoisting apparatus to clear away the wreckage and had to telephone customers that it would be unable to make its regular deliveries though it hopes to be able to supply hotels and the sick people on its route. Customers can be supplied if they will call at the plant for the ice.

CITY TAXES

The payment of city taxes began today. The treasurer and tax collector is not sending out notices unless they are requested.

The first installment of city taxes will be delinquent the second Monday in December, and the last installment will be delinquent on the last Monday in April. Penalties for delinquencies are 10 per cent on the first installment and 5 per cent on the second one.

Remittances by mail are preferred to personal payment to avoid congestion in the office and also the ban on crowds which has been imposed on account of "flu."

RANDALL'S ANTI-WAR RECORD

The anti-war record of Charles H. Randall is shown by the Congressional Record. Following is his vote on seven of the main war and preparedness bills:

No. 1. Kahn amendment to the Hay Army Bill, March 23, 1916. This amendment sought to increase the regular army to 178,000, or more nearly approaching the recommendations of the general staff of the army. Randall voted No.

No. 2. Brandegee amendment to the Hay-Chamberlain Army Bill, April 18, 1916. This amendment provided for an army of 250,000, as against 140,000. Randall voted No.

No. 3. "Section 56" providing for a volunteer reserve army wholly under federal control, April 18, 1916. Randall voted No.

No. 4. Motion to re-commit Naval Appropriation Bill, June 2, 1916. This motion was designed to instruct an increase in the navy beyond what was provided in the original bill. Randall voted No.

No. 5. Cooper amendment, March 1, 1917. This amendment was designed to prohibit to American ships their legal right to carry arms or ammunition in their cargoes. Randall voted No.

No. 6. Declaration of war against Germany, April 5, 1917. Randall voted No.

No. 7. Kahn amendment to Conscription Act, April 23, 1917. This provided for the raising, by conscription, of the necessary army, to give effect to the declaration of war. Randall voted No.

Unless the Congressional Record falsifies, the foregoing is the anti-war pacifist record of Charles H. Randall on the seven paramount preparedness and war measures. Fortunately, however, Mr. Randall's policy did not prevail, and it now appears that our boys at the front will have achieved their victory before the end of this year. Do you think, Mr. Voter, that such could have been accomplished if Randall had succeeded in his opposition to these bills which have saved the integrity and honor of our country? Do you believe our boys at the front would approve of this record? A vote for Randall is a vote for a pacifist. A vote for Mr. Flowers is a vote for an American and patriot.

STAND BY THE STANDARDS

While a large proportion of the dentists are away in army service, an attempt is being made to put across an initiative measure which will impair their future and which will unmistakably lessen the splendid standards for their profession now established in the state of California.

There are abundant reasons why all voters should express themselves emphatically against Proposition No. 21 on the ballot. It expressly concerns the practice of dentistry and would greatly change a system and policy which is now recognized as the best in America.

The principal change, so far as the average person is concerned, would be the admission to practice, without examination, of dentists from any and all states, merely upon producing a license. This is a great and grave discrimination against the dentists and students of our own state. The California student is required by law to have four years of study in a high class college and to have a definite amount of laboratory, clinical and other experience before he can even present himself before the state dental board for examination. That examination is a severe but a practical one, and a man must necessarily be qualified for his profession before he can pass it.

Some might say that these standards are more severe than necessary, but the fact remains that they are the result of the best wisdom and experience of the country. At any rate, they do exist and are in the law and there is not a fair-minded voter who would say that the bars should be thrown down for the promiscuous admission of outsiders on terms that are positively forbidden to citizens of our own state.

That of itself is a proposition which admits of no argument, and is a competent reason for the killing of initiative measure No. 21.

Recently the Educational Council of the National Dental Association established standards for the classification of schools and colleges in which dental surgery is taught. The requirements for a student in Class A are almost exactly the requirements of California. In the United States there are but sixteen colleges in Class A. One of these—and the first—is in connection with the University of Southern California, in Los Angeles. The second is the University of California at Berkeley.

In some states it is possible for dental boards to license without examination, and some do not even stipulate a diploma. How unfair, then, to nullify the splendid work of these California schools and the lofty standards established by the state for this profession by admitting on equal terms and without examination the half-trained and possibly unqualified practitioner from some other state, where the chief requirement is the possession of the price of a license.

Dental surgery is a science and profession which should admit no triflers. More even than in the practice of medicine should it be in skilled and competent hands. It is quality and not quantity that counts in this branch of human service, whose vital import is being more fully established every day.

This is but one of a dozen reasons why voters should place the foot most emphatically on this wildcat measure. This one reason is merely loyalty to one's state, and his friends and the home institutions of learning, but that should be sufficient.

SUNDAY SERMONS

have not the advantage of a definite goal toward which to strive. Each generation has been grappling with its problems, groping toward better conditions. The result has been that with every marked advance in the progress of civilization, political institutions have shown a tendency to crystallize—to resolve into rigid and stereotyped forms.

In our own country, so brief but so illustrious in its history, the argument is used that because we have the best government the world has even seen, we must let it alone, we must not tinker with it for fear that instead of making it better we make it worse.

In the history of the church the same tendency toward crystallization has appeared, but of all institutions and all religions the Christian church and the Christian religion need to have the least fear of disastrous results from increasing knowledge and the general progress of the world.

"The Church and the Lame Man"
By Rev. C. A. Cole, of the Christian Church

In these wonderful days when we are giving so largely of our money and our talents to minister to a needy, war-stricken world, it isn't amiss to say something about the reason back of such a ministry. How comes it that a great nation will, in the midst of war and pestilence decide to make another gift of a hundred million dollars to allay suffering and feed the hungry? What prompts our people to send food and clothing to save the starving and orphans of far away Asia Minor? We'll give thirty millions more to them soon.

My plea is then that America is pouring out her beneficence today because the church, the exponent of Christianity, has taught men the spirit of Jesus Christ of Nazareth.

Christianity is the healer of the world today.

There is not a hospital, a soup-society, a rescue mission or even a United War Work Campaign that cannot be found located at the door of the temple which is called Beautiful. I go further to say that it is done in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth. Consciously or unconsciously, it is the spirit of Christ, in man, in society, that is doing it. You may question that claim. Well, if it isn't Christ's spirit, is it Mohammed's spirit? Is it Buddha's? Is it Brigham Young's or Mrs. Eddy's or Rousseau's? Is it done in Turkey? Did we import it from China? Christ's spirit is feeding the starving world today through his folks.

"Such as I have, give I unto thee." Peter, like most succeeding Christians was a rich, poor man. There is no such thing as a poor Christian. If ever you find one so labelled, you may know it's a mistake. Paul said, "All things are yours, and ye are Christ's and Christ is God's." It's God's plan that every moneyless Christian be a blessing. In our own little city, some of the most useful people live from week to week by a little yellow pay-envelope. And they are rich.

The church is here to inspire men to do, to give. It's task is to preach a Gospel that will send men and women out to take care of misery and poverty. It is not the propaganda of any cult or political party or social organization. It must tell men how to live.

Prayer and service together. "He took him by the right hand and raised him up; and immediately his feet received strength." Peter didn't just pray, "Jesus, cure this man." He reached out a big oarsman's hand with a good Galilean, "Here, my brother, arise." Prayer and a hand have ever been the combination to lift the "lame." If you and I really want to help the man who is down, we will not merely give money, but go ourselves and meet the helpless world hand to hand. If all who put up prayers for the afflicted and put up a little money for the Red Cross, will also from now on go in person and take the unfortunate and distressed "by the right hand" there will be the greatest lifting this world has ever known. The Slum and the Avenue will smile at each other, and the mahogany desk and the lathe will be on speaking terms and a great revival of better things will break out in every community.

Could victory over Prussianism win in 1918 if Randall's anti-war vote and anti-selective-army vote had won in 1917?

JOHN ROBERT WHITE, Jr., for Assemblyman

On the temperance issue, John Robert White, during the campaign preceding the primary election at which he was overwhelmingly chosen the candidate of the Republican party for Assemblyman from the 61st District, emphatically declared himself for State and National Prohibition. Following the primaries, the State Convention of the Republican party incorporated in its platform the following strong declaration:

"War has increasingly revealed the waste of men and material which the liquor traffic works. To win the war, Congress has found it necessary to stop the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages. Much more will this be necessary during the difficult days of reconstruction after the war. We favor the ratification by the Legislature at its next session of the Federal Dry Amendment."

It is on this platform, along with Governor Stephens, that Mr. White is making his campaign for the Assembly.

Personals

John Robert White, Jr., of this city is making an auto trip through the San Fernando Valley today.

Miss Ella McDonald of Pasadena has been the house guest this week of Mrs. H. P. Goodwin.

Robert McCourt and H. B. Brummell, both of whom have been quite ill of the "flu" are getting well and almost as good as new.

Mrs. McReynolds of 336 North Kenwood and Mrs. William Nash motored to Claremont Thursday and spent the day with Mrs. E. H. Willisford.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller of 408 Oak Street are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. Zaring and three sons from Colorado Springs, Colo. They expect to spend the winter here.

Will Harlan, his wife and baby have come from El Paso, Tex., to make their home with Mrs. C. E. Harlan on Mariposa Street. He has accepted a position in Los Angeles.

Miss Louisiana Spaulding has been at the home of her parents on Brand and Park Avenues for the past two weeks as the school in which she teaches has been closed on account of influenza.

Florence L. Padelford announces to her friends and patrons that she is living in Los Angeles at 2008 8th Avenue. Phone West 2241. She will be happy to hear from one and all.

Harry Lynch of the Public Service Department of the city is at home nursing a case of "flu". Miss Lillian Shropshire in the City Clerk's office is recovered and back at her post.

Miss Gorman and Mr. and Mrs. Lavelle who were to have moved to Riverside this week have delayed their departure to await the arrival of a brother who is on the Orpheum circuit who is held back by the "flu" embargo.

The Music family have traded their home on Maryland Avenue for a chicken ranch about two miles north of Burbank which they are now occupying. They were farmers in Santa Ana before they came here and are glad to make the change.

Dr. R. V. Hogue of this city had to make a hurry up auto trip to Santa Ana Friday to take a nurse to the home of relatives in that city who are quite ill of influenza, which is said to be worse there than here with quite a shortage of doctors and nurses.

Tom Furst, one of the brothers who conducted the White Store in this city has been very ill of influenza for about a month at the home of his father in Los Angeles, but is now out of danger and able to be about.

The railway men who were caught by the "flu" and who have been under the doctor's care are all better. The list includes Mr. Stephens, Guy Pettit and Mervyn Mills of the Glendale-Montrose company and Conductor Straight of the P. E.

Fred McPherson and family who formerly lived at the corner of Louise and Chestnut Streets have moved to Los Angeles to situate themselves more conveniently with reference to Mr. McPherson's business.

R. A. Pratt of the Coco Cola Company, is sojourning at the Glendale Sanitarium. He is greatly taken with Glendale and his friends are trying to persuade him to forsake the white lights of Los Angeles for the Gem City and locate here permanently.

BE SURE

the premiums on your insurance policies are paid promptly—take no chances. If you need an extension, get it in ample time. We had a policyholder who allowed his policy (less than a year old) to lapse, but who finally came through with the premium after the "days of grace" had expired. He could not then be reinstated without a certificate of health. This he failed to sign until personally seen by our agent who promptly forwarded it to the company. It was received by them on the 21st ult., and on the 23rd the man died. Result—$10,000 to his family—practically all the estate he left. Why must we work so hard to insure men and then to keep the insurance in force?

W. B. Kirk
Protector of Homes

W. Y. Boyd, who built a home at Riverdale Drive and Central Avenue and then moved from Glendale is coming back with his family and not being able to get possession of his own house has leased another on Harvard. They return on account of Mrs. Boyd's health as the beach does not agree with her.

Mrs. Nicoles says about 700 men have been enlisted to date and they expect to bring the number up to 1000 men who will probably leave in December for training elsewhere.

"Unconditional Surrender"

Exactly for the same reason—Justice!—that Republicans once demanded that the United States keep its obligations and help to defend Belgium (The war would then have soon been over); exactly as the Republicans demanded that the United States take a man's part in rounding up the international outlaw, Germany; so now the Republicans demand that Germany be not treated as a co-partner in a law-suit entitled to parley for terms, but as an Arch-criminal whose weapons must be taken away, who must be compelled to return its stolen plunder, compelled to rebuild the ruined homes and factories, compelled to replace sunken ships with vessels from her own fleet or with German gold, and compelled to admit before the world in words that all may understand that the basis of her peace is "Unconditional Surrender."

Ex-President's Taft's Opinion:

"Is it necessary for the country's welfare that he (President Wilson) should be absolute ruler of this nation for the two years ensuing from March 4 next? Do we need, during the life of the next Congress, a dictator?"

"But for the support of Republican Congressmen that he has had in this war, he could not have conducted it to its present status."

Theodore Roosevelt Says:

"These Republican leaders supported the administration when a declaration of war was needed. They supported it when there was a demand for the draft. They supported it when they sent the army overseas. They supported every demand for money, whether by taxation or by loan. They supported it on these lines when the leaders of President Wilson's own party opposed him."

Inspiring Excerpts from Joint Note Written by Taft and Roosevelt:

"When this war broke out we would have welcomed action by the President which would have eliminated all questions of party politics. Instead of this, partisan lines have been strictly drawn from the first, and now the President announces that only Democrats can be entrusted with future power and only those Democrats who do his will."

"The President has indicated a willingness to make a peace by negotiations. He has not demanded, as he might have done in three lines, that which the American people demanded, an unconditional surrender."

"The President is without final power to bind the United States to those 14 points, although his language does not suggest it. Still less has he power to bind our noble Allies."

"The President has not hesitated publicly to discipline those of his party who have disagreed with him and the lesson has had its effect. A new Democratic Congress with its old leaders thus chastened will offer no opposition to his will."

"The Republicans voted without objection billions to be expended by this administration. Six hundred and forty millions for aviation were given to the executive to build airplanes without a single limitation as to the method of its expenditure. A Senate committee has deplored the waste and failure in the use of that money. The debts which have been created by this war the people will be paying to the third and fourth generation. They have a right to know how these enormous sums have been expended. Only a Republican Congress will have the courage to exact a detailed and accurate story of that stewardship."

"The work of reconstruction must not be done by one man, or finally formulated according to his academic theories and ideals. It is not safe to entrust to one man such unlimited power."

"We urge all Americans, who are Americans first, to vote for a Republican Congress."

Is it Wise to Entrust the Destiny of a Nation to One Man?

Our fore-fathers did not think so, hence they wrote a Constitution creating a Congress. To nullify this Congress is one thing which President Wilson now seeks to do.

Has President Wilson's judgment showed that it can be relied upon to guide the destiny of America? Is it so infallible that a hundred million people are willing to stake their lives and fortunes on it.

May 27, 1916, he states: "The obscure fountains from which its stupendous flood (the war) has burst forth, we are not interested to search for or explore." But August 27, 1917, his opinion has reversed. "The object of this war is to deliver the free peoples of the world from the menace and actual power of a vast military establishment."

Did the President mean it when he said January 22, 1917: "It must be a peace without victory. It is not pleasant to say this * * * I am seeking only to face realities and to face them without soft concealments." Is his present opinion expressed in the words expressed six months later: "The settlement must be final. There can be no compromise."

No man is big enough to rule America.

No Congress can represent America that represents only half of American opinion.

Glendale has done its Duty to America

We have sent our boys to France. We have sacrificed to raise our quota of Liberty Bonds. We cannot send back to Congress a man who voted against the war, voted against Conscription, voted against the Army Bill, voted against or obstructed every great Preparedness Measure. Charles H. Randall has proved himself unworthy to represent the patriotism and intelligence of this district. He must be signally defeated.

In pledging our utmost support to Montaville Flowers, we urge the voters of this district to give him the greatest vote that was ever accorded a Congressional nominee.

Montaville Flowers for Congress Club of Glendale

"A Call to Justice!"

The President of the United States—on the eve of an election—suddenly reverses his political attitude.

"Politics is adjourned," he declared some months ago when the gravity of the war was recognized, when armies were needed, ships must be built, billions of dollars raised, sacrifices endured by the whole nation, and when, not the least of all, the stubborn opposition of Democratic Congressmen must be overcome.

"Send only Democratic Congressmen to Washington," he now declares when peace is in sight, when the armies, ships and billions have been raised.

This strikes at the very principle on which our government is founded and for which we wage a European war—Representative Government—and the great and loyal Republican Party calls upon all fairminded Americans, Republicans and Democrats alike, to elect the Republican nominee from this district.

Elect Him By an Overwhelming Vote

Montaville Flowers

Support him as you have never before supported a Congressional Candidate

Support him with your Vote, your Telephone, your Speech on the Street and your Automobile on Election Day

Support him as though the destiny of America --- as in truth it may --- depends upon the outcome.

Every Voter in America Knows

That it was Republican support which drafted our armies, built up our ships and raised our billions.

That Republican newspapers have set an unparalleled example of Americanism by backing up the President, by applauding what he did well, by ignoring or passing lightly his acts that have been open to criticism.

That every Republican father and mother in the land has strictly observed his request "No Politics!" and have set themselves loyally without thought or heed of party to the great task of Winning the War.

This the Republicans have done without reward or commendation. For them it has been in truth an All-American war.

And yet, in the interest of America, Republicans have uttered no word of complaint.

Who is it that now suddenly injects politics into the country's patriotism? It is he who asked that politics be adjourned—the President of the United States.

Let this question be answered: If it takes Republican Congressmen to solve the problems of war, why should it take only Democratic Congressmen to solve the questions of peace?

Are not the treaties that will be signed, the vast economic policies that will be adopted, binding alike on Democrats and Republicans? Shall we take the sons of Republicans for the battlefield, the taxes of Republicans to pay the war, and deprive Republicans of all voice in government?

Are all of the people to give and fight, but only half of the people to rule?

Shall we insist that ALL the people of Germany have a voice in THAT government, but that only HALF of the people shall have a voice in THIS government?

Taft, Hays and Roosevelt personally endorse him.
Millions of Americans personally endorse him.

Montaville Flowers

Needed for his Statesmanship, his Judgment, his Fairness his Unquestionable Americanism.

This next Congress will have a finger in that orange grove you own—tariff. That shipyard, piece of real estate, tourist hotel, store and factory are concerned. That Job of yours depends on wheels of industry kept turning.

You need Flowers for his practical knowledge of Southern California. You need his energy. You need his power to win. You need his integrity.

Woman's Suffrage?

Read this Letter written by Los Angeles Club Women to the Los Angeles Times

"President Wilson has called on the people of the nation to elect a Democratic Congress. He says that this is necessary in order that his administration may be supported in its programme of war measures."

"In view of this remarkable statement, it is interesting to recall the latest appearance of President Wilson before Congress. At that time he made an earnest and impassioned appeal to the Senate urging that body to vote for woman's suffrage as a vital and necessary war measure. He besought the Senators that they prove the sincerity of America's watchword, 'Equality,' in order that the listening peoples of the Old World might hear and be glad."

"As a result of the President's personal advocacy there was a fifty-fifty split among the members of his own political faith, while the Republicans voted for the measure in the ratio of almost three to one."

"Where do the votes of the thirty anti-suffrage Democratic senators fit into the picture, or the necessity of a Democratic congress that will demonstrate American patriotism by standing back of the President?"

"Does not this one instance break down the logic of Mr. Wilson's position, that loyalty to the administration and patriotic determination to win the war necessitates the election to congress of representatives of the citizens of the United States of one political creed only?"

(Signed)

"(Mrs. Shelley) Josephine Tolhurst.
"(Mrs. Seward A.) Grace C. Simons.
"(Mrs. J. F.) Margaret Sartori."

The women of Southern California resent the President's desire for absolute control of government even more than the men themselves
